

ENJOYING AUTUMN

People spend their free time and celebrate special occasions in many ways. If celebrating with alcohol, being informed can help you and your friends stay safe.

UNDERSTANDING TOLERANCE

Alcohol tolerance is based largely on environmental cues that cause the body to prepare in anticipation of processing alcohol. These include same drinks, same place, and same friends.

When drinking without the usual environmental cues, tolerance is lower because the body won't automatically begin to counter alcohol's effects. Different situations can include celebrations and holidays, unfamiliar drinks, new places, and a different group. A person can be more impaired than anticipated, even if drinking a usual amount. Drinking less and more slowly in new situations can help counter the increased risk of negative outcomes.

CELEBRATING A FESTIVE FALL

A few highlights:

- Watch Wonder Woman on Oct. 28 at 7PM in the Amphitheater.
- Get spooked at Brown College's Hauntings on the Hill on Oct. 28-29 at 8PM-midnight. $5 per person and $9 for two.
- Check out Trick-or-Treating on the Lawn on Oct. 31 at 4PM-6PM.

If choosing to celebrate with alcohol, protective behaviors help reduce risk.

- Eat food, especially protein, before and while drinking.
- Avoid mixing alcohol with other drugs. Over-the-counter, prescription, and illicit drugs can increase alcohol's effects.
- Avoid mixing alcohol with caffeine, which can mask intoxication and increase risk of negative outcomes.

RECOVERY

"I AM IN RECOVERY. SO I DON'T DRINK OR USE OTHER DRUGS ANYMORE."

Everyone has a role to play in making UVA a non-judgmental environment that respects and encourages people who are in recovery or trying to change their substance use.

Sometimes a person's alcohol or drug use isn't working for them, so they choose recovery. Considering, beginning, and maintaining recovery can be challenging. Fortunately, there are fun communities to join to support living sober!

Hoos in Recovery (HiR) is a supportive, confidential community of UVA people in recovery or considering recovery.

1

Remember PUBS, and call 911 if someone is showing signs of alcohol poisoning. Stay and monitor a person who has passed out.

2

Stay with a buddy, plan a safe way home, and never leave a friend alone.

3

Donning a costume? Avoid costumes that limit vision or mobility. Choosing attire that is respectful of diverse backgrounds is one way to strengthen our UVA community.
